

Smoking Chimney

Dunno what it is with Bollywood and food, but lots of those folk are turning up at restaurant launches. Could be something to do with the fact that the ventures involved Sunil Kapoor, son of former film distributor J K Kapoor. We saw a host of stars at the opening of Not Just Dosas and then at the reopening of Copper Chimney. At the latter, Dilip Kumar and a very well-preserved and elegantly dressed Waheeda Rehman were pretty much the stars of the show. Dilip Kumar even went so far as to don a chef's hat and try his hand in the kitchen. A lot of the city's South Side gathered to choruses of 'Hi darling' and everyone seemed to be having a great time. The food, we were pleased to note, was as good as it has always been.